Dear Hiring Manager:

Please accept this letter as a self-recommendation for the job role of iOS Developer. I am currently serving as an iOS Developer in Nanosoft Technologies (Branex.ae). Being an experienced professional, I have extensive knowledge of iOS frameworks and expertise in Swift to create useful and user-friendly applications.

I am enlisting my key responsibilities for you to get insights into my current role:

- Develop applications for the iOS platform.
- Ensure smooth performance and responsiveness of the application.
- Cross collaborates with the staff to define and design new features in the software.
- Spot and fix bugs using numerous software and coding.
- Ensure compliance with application development methodologies and processes.
- Carry other activities as instructed by the manager.

Along with the above abilities, I have gained a comprehensive understanding of Swift-based libraries, iOS backend protocols, familiarity with cloud services and APIs. Thus, I have the caliber to perform exceedingly well as your iOS Developer.

I am thankful to you for considering me as a potential candidate for the job role. My attached resume and portfolio will offer advanced information about my professionalism and career so far. I would truly appreciate an opportunity to discuss my job qualifications in detail with you.

Muhammad Shariq Hasnain.
